

An aerial photograph of a rural property outlined by a thick yellow line. The property is roughly triangular, with a paved road on the left and bottom edges, and a straight road on the right. Inside the boundary, there is a large green field, a cluster of evergreen trees in the center, and a white dairy barn with a brown roof on the right side. In the background, there are more fields, some with crops, and a line of trees. A car is visible on the road to the right. The text is overlaid in the center of the property.
