Pay careful attention to speed limit signs! In Texas, the speed limit for cars and trucks (pickups, panel vans) is 75 mph daytime and 65 mph nighttime in rural areas. Lower speed limits are posted to account for their individual operating characteristics. In urban areas, speed limits on urban freeways typically range from 65 mph to 75 mph. In counties with low population density, the maximum speed limit is 75 mph but only where 75 mph signs have been posted. Watch your speedometer.
