The image is an aerial photograph of a rural landscape. A large, irregularly shaped area is outlined with a thick yellow line. This area contains a mix of green fields, some bare brown patches, and a few small structures. To the left of the yellow-outlined area, there is a small cluster of white buildings. The surrounding landscape consists of more green fields and scattered trees. Several roads are visible: a road runs along the top right edge, another runs along the bottom left, and a road runs horizontally across the bottom. A road number '150' is visible in a white circle at the bottom center. Text at the bottom right identifies the image as being from Google Earth, with a copyright notice for 2009 Tele Atlas and the USDA Farm Service Agency.
