

Hill Country Sanctuary Ranch

OUTDOOR RECREATION

Hill Country Sanctuary has been primarily managed as a trophy White tail Deer hunting facility with a breeding operation. As such, the genetics present in the deer population on the ranch have been improved dramatically over the past 10 years. The deer have mostly South Texas genetics with some introduced genetics from Northern states included to improve antler mass and size. Typically, only mature bucks that have been released on the ranch for hunting are harvested, allowing each buck to reach its full potential. The deer also receive supplemental nutrition year round.

Many bucks over 180 B&C have been taken over the last decade. With the improved genetics now firmly established in the Whitetail population on the ranch, the deer hunting should only get better!
