Adjacent County employment recession resistance summary table # 2 compared to adjacent Counties

Category	Burleson County	Milam County	Robertson County	Brazos County	Washington County	Lee County
% Economy sensitive	42.6%	49.9%	41.1%	52.7%	56.3%	42.8%
% Economy resistant	57.4%	50.1%	58.9%	47.3%	43.7%	57.2%
Index to Texas (greater than 100 is better)	108.1%	94%	110.9%	89%	82%	108%
Index to US (greater than 100 is better)	106.4%	93%	109.2%	88%	81.1%	106.1%
Adjacent County "recession resistant" rank (# 1 is best)	# 2	# 4	# 1	# 5	# 6	# 3

Resistance analysis/ranking is a proprietary, single variable model of local economy sensitivity based on distribution of jobs by employment segment.

CB COLDWELL BANKER COMMERCIAL

SOUTHWEST PARTNERS

Adjacent County employment recession resistance compared to US (higher the % the more resistant the County)

Bar chart values (left to right):
- 106% — Burleson County (red) [circled]
- 93% — Milam County (orange)
- 109% — Robertson County (yellow)
- 88% — Brazos County (green)
- 81% — Washington County (light blue)
- 106% — Lee County (blue)
- 100% — US (white)

Legend:
- Burleson County [circled]
- Milam County
- Robertson County
- Brazos County
- Washington County
- Lee County
- US

Resistance analysis/ranking is a proprietary, single variable model of local economy sensitivity based on distribution of jobs by employment segment.

COLDWELL BANKER COMMERCIAL
SOUTHWEST PARTNERS

Adjacent County employment recession resistance compared to state (higher the % the more resistant the County)

Bar chart showing resistance percentages:
- Burleson County: 108%
- Milam County: 94%
- Robertson County: 111%
- Brazos County: 89%
- Washington County: 82%
- Lee County: 108%
- Texas: 100%

Legend:
- Burleson County
- Milam County
- Robertson County
- Brazos County
- Washington County
- Lee County
- Texas

Resistance analysis/ranking is a proprietary, single variable model of local economy sensitivity based on distribution of jobs by employment segment.

COLDWELL BANKER COMMERCIAL
SOUTHWEST PARTNERS