

Wisconsin log home offers year-round pleasure in a cozy atmosphere

Story by Laura Stapleton • Photography by Roger Wade

A recent snowstorm has sent miniature drifts under the car portico, next to the front entry. A log with "Cedar Hill Ranch" branded into it hangs from an overhead beam. Upon first arrival, the site may resemble some distant ski resort, buried among the larger snowdrifts. Only, this is not a commercial resort by any stretch of the imagination—it is Roberta and Roger Polark's dream log home.
