STATE OF NEBRASKA

Nebraska is a state that lies in both the Great Plains and the Midwestern United States. Its state capital is Lincoln and its largest city is Omaha, which is on the Missouri River.

The state is crossed by many historic trails, and was explored by the Lewis and Clark Expedition. The California Gold Rush brought the first large numbers of non-indigenous settlers to the area. Nebraska became a state in 1867.

The climate has wide variations between winter and summer temperatures, and violent thunderstorms can be commonplace. The state is ideal for cattle grazing and is a major producer of beef, as well as pork, corn, and soybeans.

Nebraska has a progressive income tax. Nebraska has a state sales and use tax of 5.5%. Some Nebraska cities assess a city sale and use tax, in 0.5% increments, up to a maximum of 1.5%. All real property within the state of Nebraska is taxable unless specifically exempted by statute. Since 1992, only depreciable personal property is subject to tax and all other personal property is exempt from tax. Inheritance tax is collected at the county level.

According to the BLS current population survey (CPS), the unemployment rate for Nebraska in December 2014 was 3.1%. The state unemployment rate was 2.5 percentage points lower than the national rate for the month.

According to the United States Census Bureau QuickFacts, the State Of Nebraska median household income, 2009-2013 was $51,672 compared to the national average of $53,046.

RECREATIONAL RESOURCES

The Martin Trail Property offers excellent hunting opportunities for trophy elk, mule deer, whitetail deer, antelope, bighorn sheep, wild turkeys, sharp-tail grouse and other upland game bird species.

There is a reservoir on the ranch which provides ample fishing opportunities as well as water for livestock and wildlife.

Coffee Park is an important part of Sowbelly Canyon. While most of the canyons eleven mile drive is private property, Coffee Park is owned and maintained by the village of Harrison. It features access to scenic Sowbelly Creek and its trout, along with playground equipment, restroom facilities and picnic shelters. Bighorn sheep can often be seen on the buttes above. And perhaps best of all, there is not much traffic.

For more information check the following websites: www.netnebraska.org and <http://nebraskastories.org/videos/sowbelly-canyon/>. The Canyon Ranch also is the home of The Legend of Sowbelly Canyon based on the battle between the cavalry soldiers and the Sioux Indians camped in the valley for the winter.

SOLDIER CREEK WILDERNESS AREA

The Soldier Creek Wilderness Area consisting of 7,794 acres is located approximately 22 miles southeast from the Canyon Ranch. Covered with forests, meadows, streams, ridges, buttes, and rugged hills, there are also several small lakes which provide fishing opportunities. Although still recovering from the 1989 fire that destroyed approximately 90% of its trees, this still beautiful wilderness area offers beautiful sites for visitors including the various wildlife that make their homes in it such as elk, white-tailed deer, mule deer, turkeys, coyotes, bobcats, eagles, and hawks. Since motorized and mechanized vehicles (which include bicycles) are not allowed in wilderness areas, the Soldier Creek Wilderness Area is a popular destination for horseback riders. For more information about the Soldier Creek Wilderness area, please visit the following website: <http://www.wilderness.net/index.cfm?fuse=NWPS&sec=wildView&WID=560>.

COMMUNITY AMENITIES

Sioux County is home to several notable attractions including the Agate Fossil Beds National Monument, the Cheyenne Outbreak Historical Monument, and the War Bonnet Battlefield. In addition, Sioux and Dawes Counties are home to Fort Robinson, western Nebraska's premier state park. According to the State of Nebraska website, this historical outpost served from the days of the Indian wars until after World War II. Fort Robinson was the site of the 1879 Cheyenne Outbreak and the surrender and eventual death of the famous Sioux war chief, Crazy Horse. Over the years, the fort served as the Red Cloud Indian Agency, as a cavalry remount station, K-9 training center, POW camp, and a beef research station. Currently the park and its many well-preserved attractions serve as the region's largest tourist attraction.

Harrison, Nebraska, located approximately 15 miles southwest of the ranch, has a population of 279, and is the county seat of Sioux County. Harrison offers residents all the amenities of a traditional rural Nebraska town. It has an excellent K-12 school system with a low student/teacher ratio, bank, retail stores, several churches, two restaurants, government offices, town library, and the county fairgrounds. For more information about the area, visit: <http://www.city-data.com/city/Harrison-Nebraska.html>.

The city of Crawford, population 1,150, is located in Dawes County, and was established in 1886 as a result of the Fremont-Elkhorn Railroad's westward push. Like many western railroad towns, Crawford had a rough and rowdy beginning. Modern day Crawford, also known as "The Garden beyond the Sandhills", is now a peaceful city with a western flare. Crawford is also known as the big game capital of Nebraska, and has become a destination for not only hunters but nature lovers and historians alike. In addition to the numerous hiking, biking, and horseback trails, the Pine Ridge of Nebraska offers several lakes, streams, and rivers which provide a multitude of boating, fishing, and camping opportunities. For the historian, this fossil-rich area is known for its two world-class bone beds.

Chadron, Nebraska, population 5,851, is the county seat of Dawes County and home to Chadron State College. This historic city features several amenities including schools, shopping, medical facilities, banks, restaurants, golf course, several museums, libraries, Mari Sandoz High Plains Heritage Center, and much more.

- Chadron State Park, Nebraska's oldest state park
- Toadstool Park which is known for its unusual geological formations
- the Hudson-Meng Bison Kill, a modern archeological excavation in progress
- Agate Fossil Beds National Park, a 3,00 acre National Monument located on the Niobrara River

Chadron hosts annual events such as Fur Trader Days held every July and the Dawes County Fair usually held the last week of July into the first week of August each year.
