

Information About Brokerage Services

Texas law requires all real estate licensees to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective buyers, tenants, sellers and landlords.

TYPES OF REAL ESTATE LICENSE HOLDERS:

- A BROKER is responsible for all brokerage activities, including acts performed by sales agents sponsored by the broker.
- A SALES AGENT must be sponsored by a broker and works with clients on behalf of the broker.

A BROKER'S MINIMUM DUTIES REQUIRED BY LAW (A client is the person or party that the broker represents):

- Put the interests of the client above all others, including the broker's own interests;
- Inform the client of any material information about the property or transaction received by the broker;
- Answer the client's questions and present any offer to or counter-offer from the client; and
- Treat all parties to a real estate transaction honestly and fairly.

A LICENSE HOLDER CAN REPRESENT A PARTY IN A REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION:

AS AGENT FOR OWNER (SELLER/LANDLORD): The broker becomes the property owner's agent through an agreement with the owner, usually in a written listing to sell or property management agreement. An owner's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the owner of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent or subagent by the buyer or buyer's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BUYER/TENANT: The broker becomes the buyer/tenant's agent by agreeing to represent the buyer, usually through a written representation agreement. A buyer's agent must perform the broker's minimum duties above and must inform the buyer of any material information about the property or transaction known by the agent, including information disclosed to the agent by the seller or seller's agent.

AS AGENT FOR BOTH - INTERMEDIARY: To act as an intermediary between the parties the broker must first obtain the written agreement of each party to the transaction. The written agreement must state who will pay the broker and, in conspicuous bold or underlined print, set forth the broker's obligations as an intermediary. A broker who acts as an intermediary:

- Must treat all parties to the transaction impartially and fairly;
- May, with the parties' written consent, appoint a different license holder associated with the broker to each party (owner and buyer) to communicate with, provide opinions and advice to, and carry out the instructions of each party to the transaction.
- Must not, unless specifically authorized in writing to do so by the party, disclose:
 - that the owner will accept a price less than the written asking price;
 - that the buyer/tenant will pay a price greater than the price submitted in a written offer; and
 - any coincidental information or any other information that a party specifically instructs the broker in writing not to disclose, unless required to do so by law.

AS SUBAGENT: A license holder acts as a subagent when aiding a buyer in a transaction without an agreement to represent the buyer. A subagent can assist the buyer but does not represent the buyer and must place the interests of the owner first.

TO AVOID DISPUTES, ALL AGREEMENTS BETWEEN YOU AND A BROKER SHOULD BE IN WRITING AND CLEARLY ESTABLISH:

- The broker's duties and responsibilities to you, and your obligations under the representation agreement.
- Who will pay the broker for services provided to you, when payment will be made and how the payment will be calculated.

LICENSE HOLDER CONTACT INFORMATION: This notice is being provided for information purposes. It does not create an obligation for you to use the broker's services. Please acknowledge receipt of this notice below and retain a copy for your records.

(h) Septic Tank Maintenance

- (1) A septic tank system should not be treated as if it were a city sewer. Economy in the use of water helps prevent overloading of a septic tank system that could shorten its life and necessitate expensive repairs. Leaky faucets and running commodes should be carefully guarded against, and relatively little indigestible waste or garbage should be placed in a septic tank system. Use of a garbage grinder can cause a rapid buildup of sludge or scum, which means more frequent cleaning and possible system failure.
- (2) A septic tank system can serve a home satisfactorily only if it is properly designed, installed and adequately maintained. When a septic tank system is improperly designed or maintained, liquid wastes may overflow onto the ground surface or the plumbing in the home may become stopped up. These overflows not only create offensive odors, but are also a health hazard. Sewage may contain dysentery, infectious hepatitis, typhoid and paratyphoid or other infectious disease organisms. Pondered sewage creates breeding places for mosquitoes and some other insects.
- (3) The purpose of a septic tank is to condition household wastes, including body waste, discarded food scraps and in some cases laundry and bath wastes so that it may be more readily percolated into the subsoil. The normal use of bleaches, detergents, soaps and drain cleaners does not harm or interfere with the operation of the system.
- (4) The partially treated sewage effluent flowing from the tank still contains large numbers of harmful bacteria and organic matter in a finely divided state or in solution. Foul odors, unsightly conditions and health hazards will develop if this effluent is pondered on the surface of the ground or carried away in open ditches. Final disposal of the effluent in a subsurface soil absorption system is necessary to avoid these problems.
- (5) The bacteria present in a septic tank are able to thrive in the absence of oxygen. Such decomposition in the absence of air is called "septic," which led to the naming of the tank. Solids and scum are digested and reduced to a smaller volume by the bacteria in the tank. However, a residue of inert solid material remains which must be stored during the interval between tank cleanings.
- (6) The frequency of cleaning depends on the size of the septic tank and the number of people it serves. When a garbage grinder is used, more frequent cleaning will be required. With ordinary use and care, a septic tank may require cleaning every two or three years. In many cases, septic tanks can be satisfactorily operated even longer. The homeowner can make measurements and decide for himself when his tank needs cleaning. An annual check is the best procedure. When the bottom of the scum is within three inches of the bottom of the outlet tee, the tank should be cleaned. The accumulated solids are ordinarily pumped out by commercial septic tank cleaner companies. The solids removed should be disposed of in a manner approved by the Texas Department of Health to avoid obnoxious odors and health hazards.
