EGRESS/INGRESS: It is accessed from Wilson Bend Road and Fruchtenicht Rd. A paved, county-maintained road that borders the property on the East and South sides.

ZONING: Exclusive Agriculture Zone. This zoning is meant to preserve agricultural areas from development due to their fertile soils.

DESCRIPTION: The property features a level 81.25 acres of mostly bare ground. The perimeter of the property is planted with redwood trees that have multiple benefits. Additionally, there is a dilapidated home on the property. A high-yielding orchard would be ideal for this land.

SOIL: This property is mostly Class 1 soil with the remainder being Class 2. It's rare you find a small piece with this good soil! See the map attached below.

WATER: There is a well in the Northeast corner of the property. It has been used to flood irrigate crops on the property.

REDWOODS: There are 8.5 acres of 15-year-old redwood trees around the perimeter. In another 10 years, these trees will be very valuable for lumber. By establishing a value to the redwoods now, you could utilize depreciation benefits. Talk to your accountant to confirm.

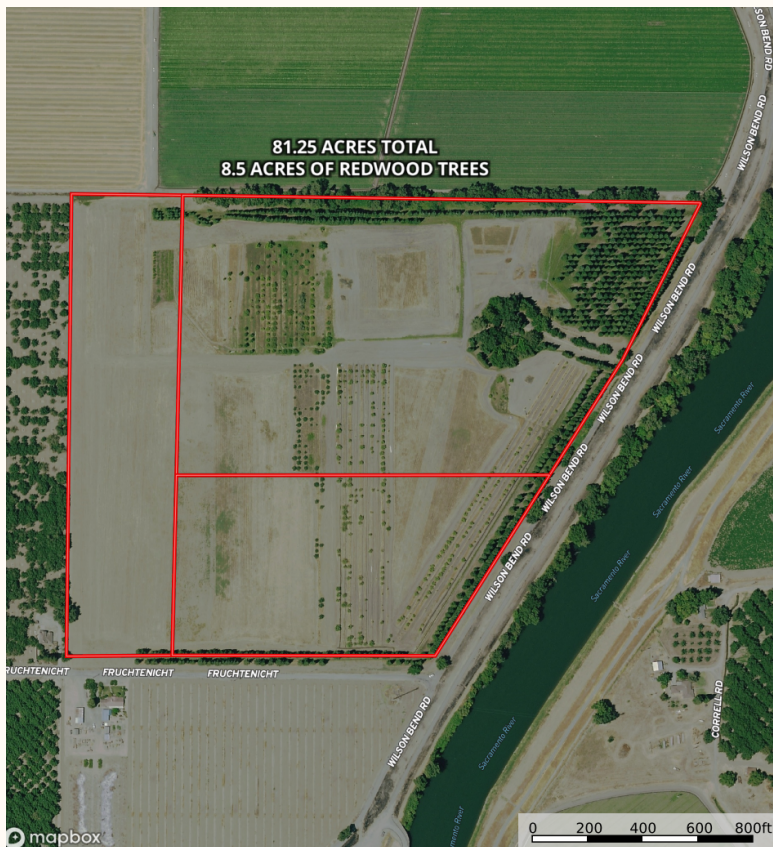

DEPRECIATION: Improvements such as the trees, wells, and irrigation systems may offer depreciation advantages to a prospective Buyer.

COMMENTS: Opportunities to own fewer than 100 acres with Class 1 Soil rarely come around. This property offers significant tax advantages. With a great supply of water, you can confidently assume this ground will appreciate. Call us today at 530-701-2680 to learn more!
