One standout feature the Attala 443 offers is its “off the grid” feel, all while maintaining public road frontage, power, and water. Once the property line starts, you continue to travel the well-maintained county road for approximately ½ mile to where it dead ends at the RV site and old family home. The make-up offers diversity and a blank slate for a new owner. Whether your end goal is a recreational getaway or long-term investment, the land gives you options!

Of the total acreage, you will find an estimated 65± acres of thinned 25±-year-old plantation pine, 50± acres of recently planted pine, 30± acres of planted hardwoods, 40± acres of 9± year-old regrowth, 250± acres of hardwood cutover, and remaining SMZs along Socki Creek and its drainages. This gives you options to replant additional pine or hardwood, develop large food plots, turn certain areas into pasture, or harvest the remaining pine for an immediate return towards your investment. From the wildlife standpoint, this area is known for good deer and turkey numbers. A nice sized portion of the property is in the game rich Yockanookany River basin, as you are just a ½ mile from the river.
