Development Opportunity at the Base of the Grapevine - ±245.3 Acres in Mettler,

Strategically located in unincorporated Mettler, California—just south of the Tejon Ranch Commerce Center and at the base of the Grapevine—this expansive ±245.3-acre parcel presents a rare opportunity for large-scale industrial development. With immediate proximity to I-5 and Highway 99, the site offers exceptional logistics and transportation access for distribution, warehousing, and manufacturing operations.

As industrial demand continues to surge in the Central Valley, this property is ideally situated to capitalize on the momentum of the region's booming logistics and e-commerce sectors. The site's scale and favorable location near major employment centers and transportation corridors make it a compelling choice for industrial users seeking regional connectivity and growth potential.

Whether you're considering a master-planned logistics hub, cross-dock facilities, or build-to-suit industrial campuses, this site delivers the acreage, access, and strategic positioning to support long-term industrial success.

Developer's Dream:

This land is priced to allow a savvy developer to come in, put in the infrastructure, and unlock incredible long-term value. The flat topography and expansive footprint offer flexibility for master planning and phased development. With infrastructure improvements and entitlement strategies, this property has the potential to evolve into a major logistics park or multi-tenant industrial campus.
