Executive Summary

Overview

A rare development opportunity within Park City city limits, this 12.46-acre property is a true gem in one of Utah's most sought-after luxury markets. Zoned Community Transition (CT), it offers exceptional flexibility with multiple permitted uses and a concept layout supporting 12 spacious lots under a Master Plan Development.

The gentle, buildable topography makes it ideal for high-end custom homes, perfectly aligned with the area's strong demand for luxury living. Surrounded by prestigious communities, top-tier schools, and breathtaking natural beauty, this parcel offers a powerful blend of scarcity and scalability.

Utilities are nearby, road access is recorded, and the title is clean with no known encumbrances. With strong luxury margins and multiple exit strategies, this property is tailor-made for visionary developers and builders ready to deliver premium product in a market that craves it.

SWOT Analysis

STRENGTHS

- + Location: rare large tract within Park City city limits
- + Clean title and entitlements infrastructure in place
- + High demand for luxury homes; great views and amenities
- + Flexible zoning allows creative development

OPPORTUNITIES

- + Upside value via individual lot sales or spec home construction
- + Premium pricing because of scarcity
- + Ability to attract high-net-worth buyers seeking custom homes
- + Branding possibility (luxury, view, exclusivity)

WEAKNESSES

- + High acquisition cost; requires significant development cost
- + Market risk if luxury demand softens
- + Infrastructure and build cost in mountain terrain tends to be higher
- + Possible bureaucratic/entitlement delays, though nothing known currently

THREATS

- + Rising construction and labor costs
- + Regulatory changes in zoning, environmental requirements
- + Competition from other luxury developments
- + Market macro-factors (interest rates, consumer confidence)

Market Overview

Location Highlights

- + Demand for luxury housing in Park City remains strong, buyers are seeking custom, high-end homes in premium locations with scenic views and close proximity to resort and recreation amenities.
- + Scarcity of large buildable parcels within city limits increases value; this parcel's size, zoning, and buildability distinguish it from many smaller fragmented sites.
- + Access to top-tier public amenities and schools adds to market pull.
- + The location offers both lifestyle (mountains, recreation, scenery) and investment appeal.

Zoning // Entitlement Potential

- + Under Community Transition (CT) zoning, the developer has flexibility regarding lot layout, densities, lot sizes, uses.
- + 12 lots envisioned; however, potential to customize depending on developer's vision (fewer/larger lots or more but with smaller footprints, subject to approvals).
- + Utility infrastructure is either in place or very close, reducing time & cost for development.

Projected Timeline

- + Due diligence / entitlement clarification
1-3 months
- + Site planning / civil engineering / approvals
3-6 months
- + Infrastructure and rough grading / utilities
4-8 months
- + Individual lot sale or home construction phase
6-18 months (depending on strategy)

Financial Projections

- + Total Acquisition Cost: $14.8 million
- + Infrastructure & Development Costs (roads, utilities, grading, site work): estimate depends on selected lot yield & topography, assume $1.5-3 million+
- + Per Lot Sale Price (12 lots): assuming average lot pricing in comparable luxury areas, maybe $1.5-2.0 million per lot (could vary significantly)
- + Potential Gross Revenue: if 12 lots × $1,750,000 avg = $21,000,000+
- + Net Projected Profit: after costs (acquisition, development, sales/marketing, carrying costs, etc.), somewhere in excess of $5-7 million, with upside if custom homes built, or less leverage required if lots sold.
