AREA OVERVIEW

MADISON COUNTY
GEORGIA

CLICK HERE FOR MORE ON MADISON COUNTY

Madison County offers a rare combination of serene rural character and immediate proximity to the vibrant economic hub of Athens, making it a premier destination for retreat and recreation-focused assets. As part of the rolling Piedmont Plateau, the county is defined by its lush landscapes, including the scenic Broad River, a popular attraction for outdoor enthusiasts.

This area has become an increasingly popular escape for the growing populations of both Atlanta and Greenville, SC, both situated within a comfortable 90-minute drive. Its strategic location near the University of Georgia offers unique opportunities for seasonal staffing and educational partnerships.

BROAD RIVER

CLICK HERE FOR MORE ON BROAD RIVER WATER TRAIL

The defining feature of Camp Kiwanis is its frontage on the Broad River, one of Georgia's last remaining free-flowing river systems and a cornerstone of the state's recreational landscape.

Positioned at mile markers 51 and 52, this stretch of water serves as a centerpiece of the Broad River Water Trail, offering an exceptional environment for outdoor adventure amidst scenic shoals and dramatic bluffs. The river's Class I and II rapids provide the perfect level of approachable adventure for paddling, kayaking, and team-building excursions.
